Origin

Marlborough is recognized as one of the premium wine regions of the world. New Zealand's leading wine region, Marlborough draws international acclaim that far outweighs its size. One of the keys to Marlborough's success is its ancient, glacial, free-draining soil. The extensive braided river systems desposited a threaded legacy of stony sand loam over very deep, stony gravels and the River Sail grapes were harvested from these select vineyard blocks.

Vinification

Grapes were selectively harvested and brought straight to the winery. They were gently crushed and pressed and then settled in tank, racked to stainless steel tanks to promote Sauvignon Blanc specific aromas. Post fermentation, the wine was prepared for bottling quickly to preserve freshness.

Tasting Note

Vibrant and intensely fruited with stone fruit aromatics driven by crisp acidity and backed-up with juicy citrus flavors leaving you longing for more.
